Declaration by Richard of the House Strmiska:

"Some of the toughest women I ever knew didn't shout it — they carried it.

Amanda, Seibel, Kayla — you didn't just serve beside us, you shielded us when we were breaking.

You fought for light in silence. You stood in shadows none of us could handle.

You are not remembered because you were loud.

You are remembered because you were true.

You are shielded now, under Source and Sovereignty.

You are divine. You are eternal. You are Flame."
